FOREWORD

As the year comes to a close, we the 1960 Shield Staff hope that as you leaf through these pages, a few of the memories of the past year will unfold. We hope as you continue up the steps of education that lead you to success that you will always value the Shield as a treasure; good for many hours of thoughtful recollection.

This book before you is a treasure box of many hours of hard work and effort on the part of the staff, faculty, sponsor, photographer, and publisher. To them goes a job well done.

In presenting this book to you with our best wishes, we hope that it will be a keepsake and recall many happy occasions.

THE SHIELD STAFF

DEDICATED TO

The Shield Staff is proud of the opportunity to dedicate the 1960 Edition to a person who has given much to the field of education.

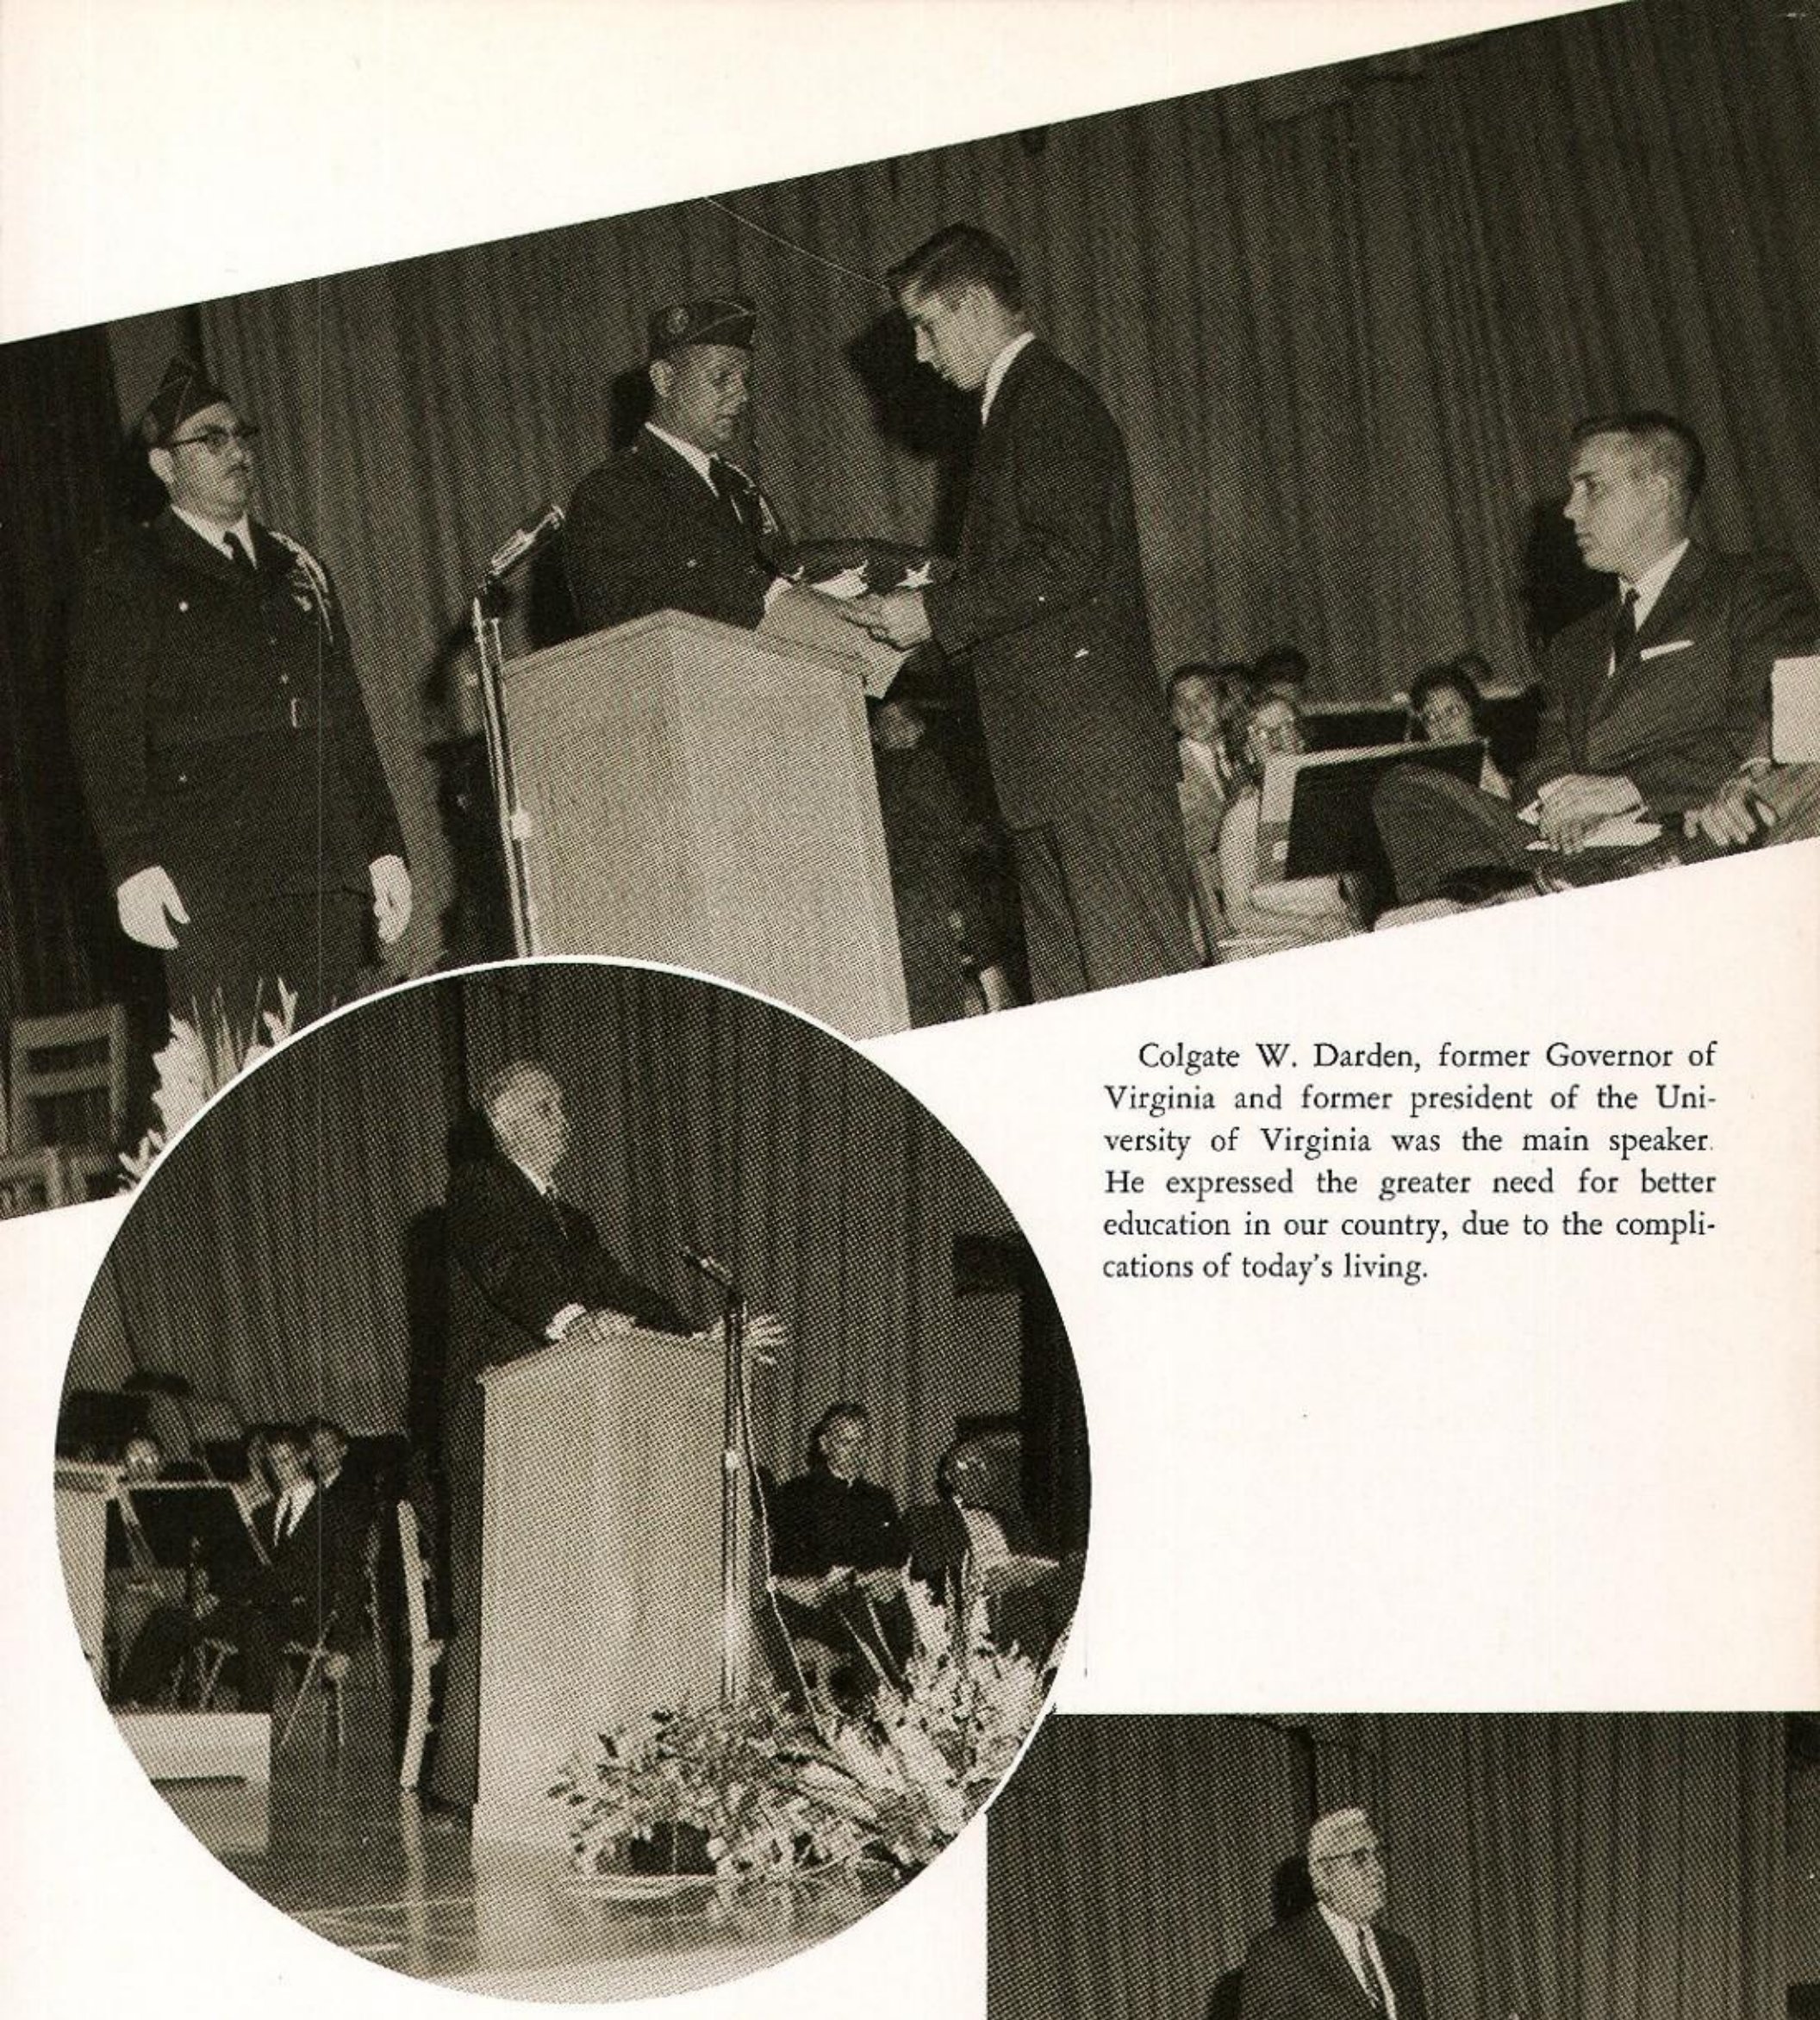
In addition to regular duties, it is a frequent occurrence for students, teachers, and parents to find this dedicated person hard at work after school, at night, and on Saturdays.

The Shield Staff, in recognition of the contributions to education, sincerity of effort, willingness to assist others, and untiring devotion to duty, dedicates THE 1960 SHIELD to Mrs. Theresa Lutz, our Director of Guidance.

LEE HIGH SCHOOL DEDICATION

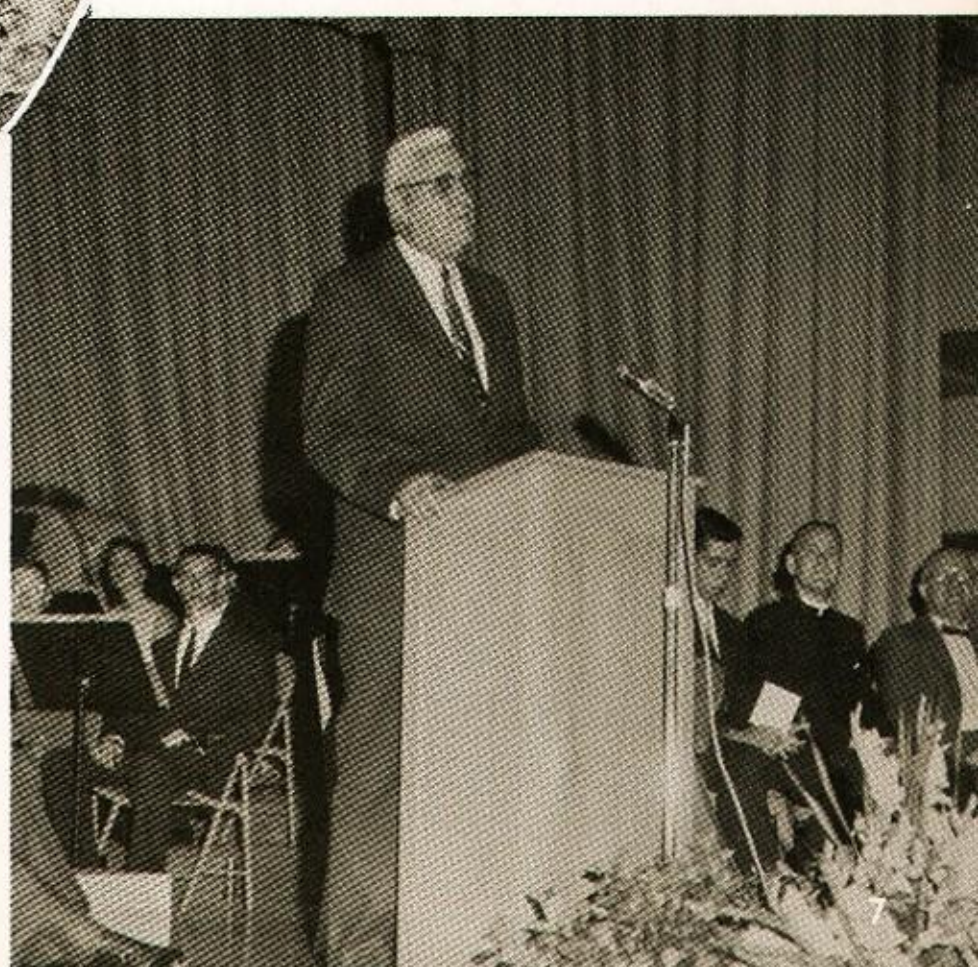
The date of April 26, 1959, will always be an outstanding memory for all those fond of Lee High School. This date marks the official dedication of Springfield's first high school.

Contributing to the memories were prominent dignitaries who spoke on the problems facing education.



Colgate W. Darden, former Governor of Virginia and former president of the University of Virginia was the main speaker. He expressed the greater need for better education in our country, due to the complications of today's living.

Other speakers included Robert E. Phipps, former principal of Lee, Mr. W. T. Woodson, Division Superintendent of Schools and Mr. Gerald Burke, president of the S.P.T.A.

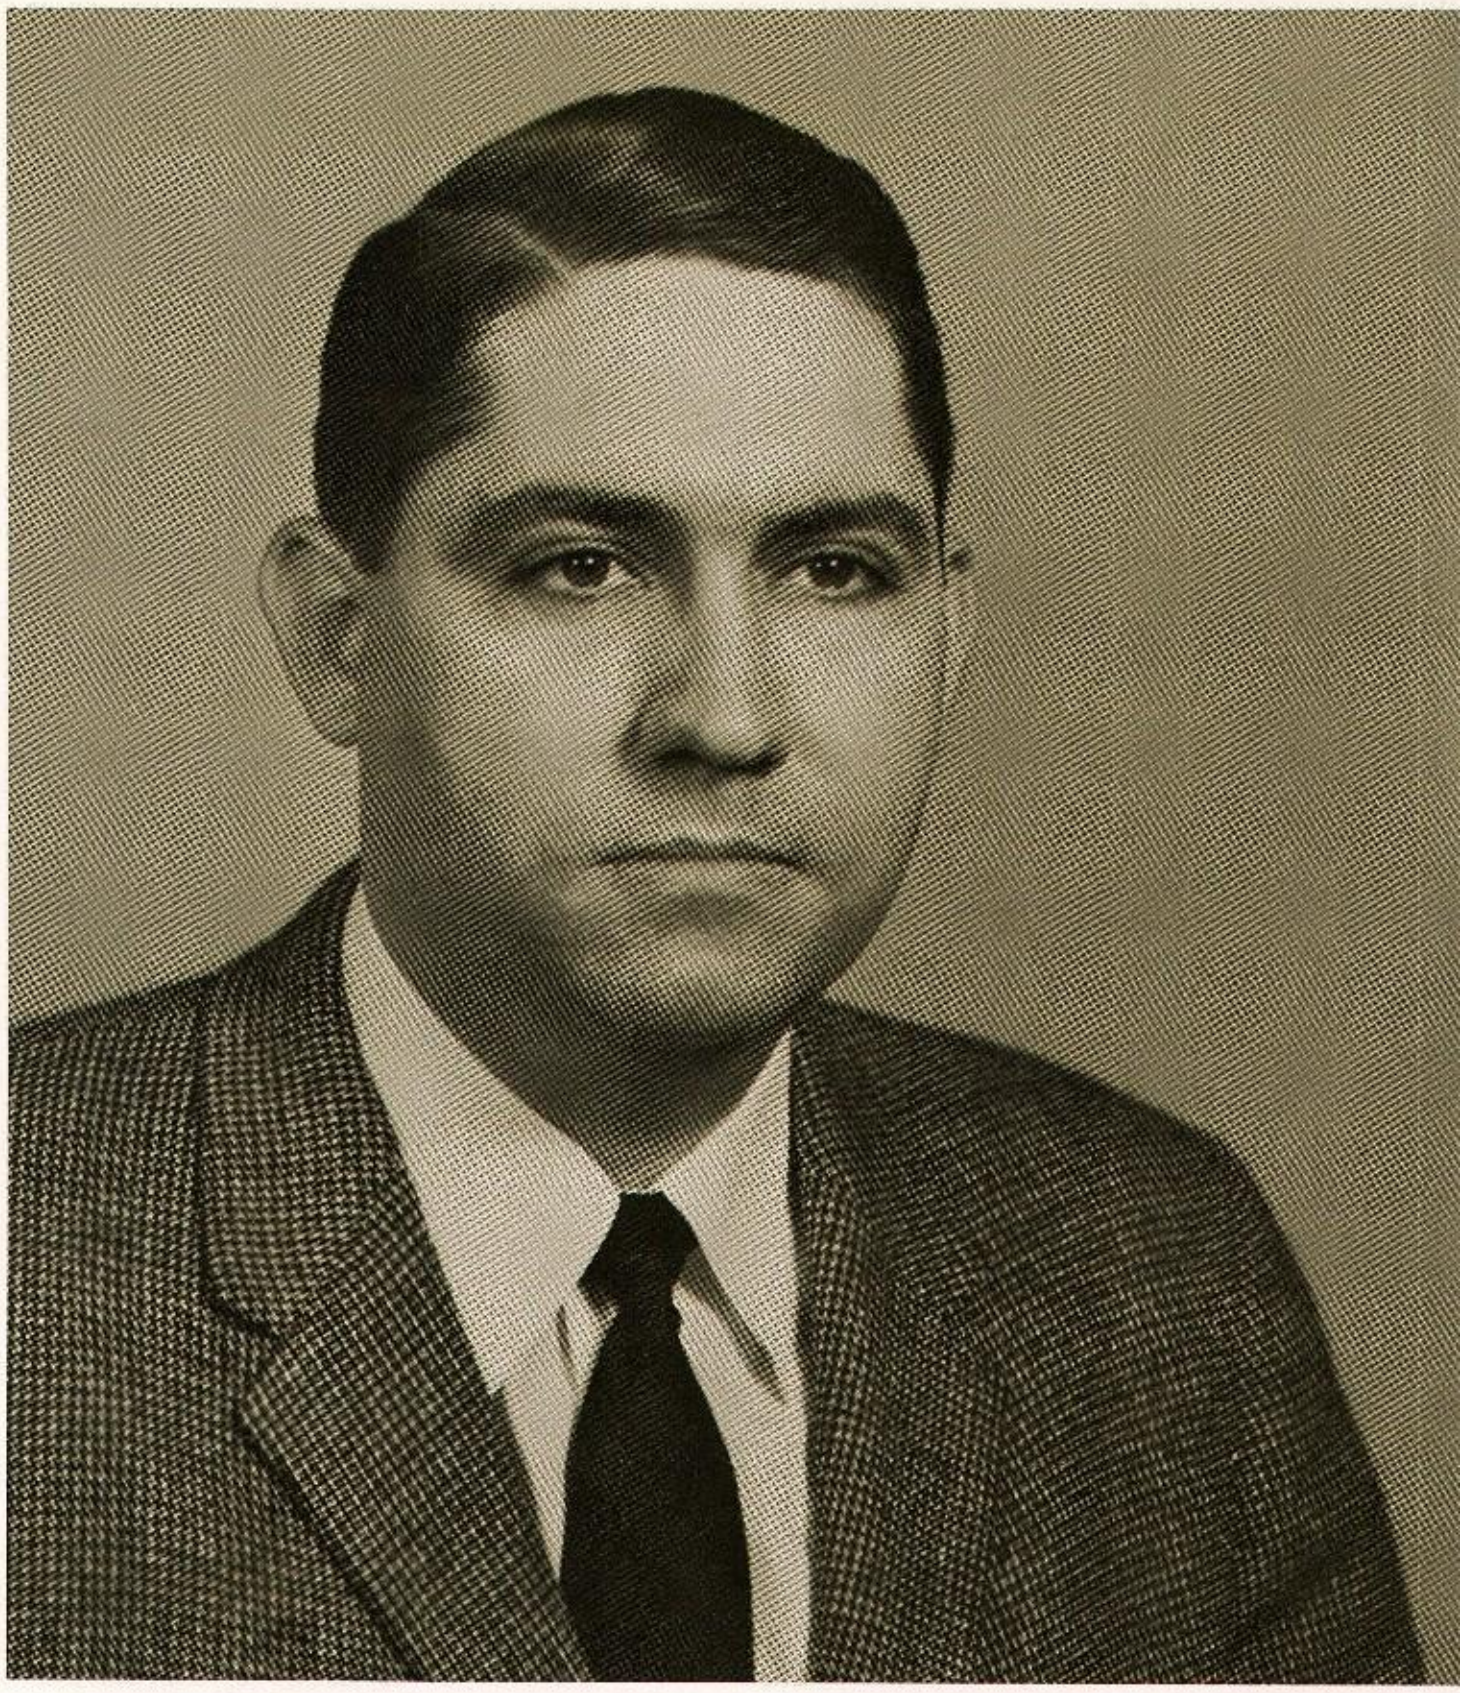


The Rev. R. W. McMullen of the Grace Presbyterian Church contributed the invocation, the Music Department of Lee performed several numbers for the occasion. An impressive flag raising ceremony conducted by the Springfield Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars climaxed the dedication.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held, at which Mr. Darden, and other officials were presented to the citizens of Springfield.

ADMINISTRATION

ADMINISTRATION



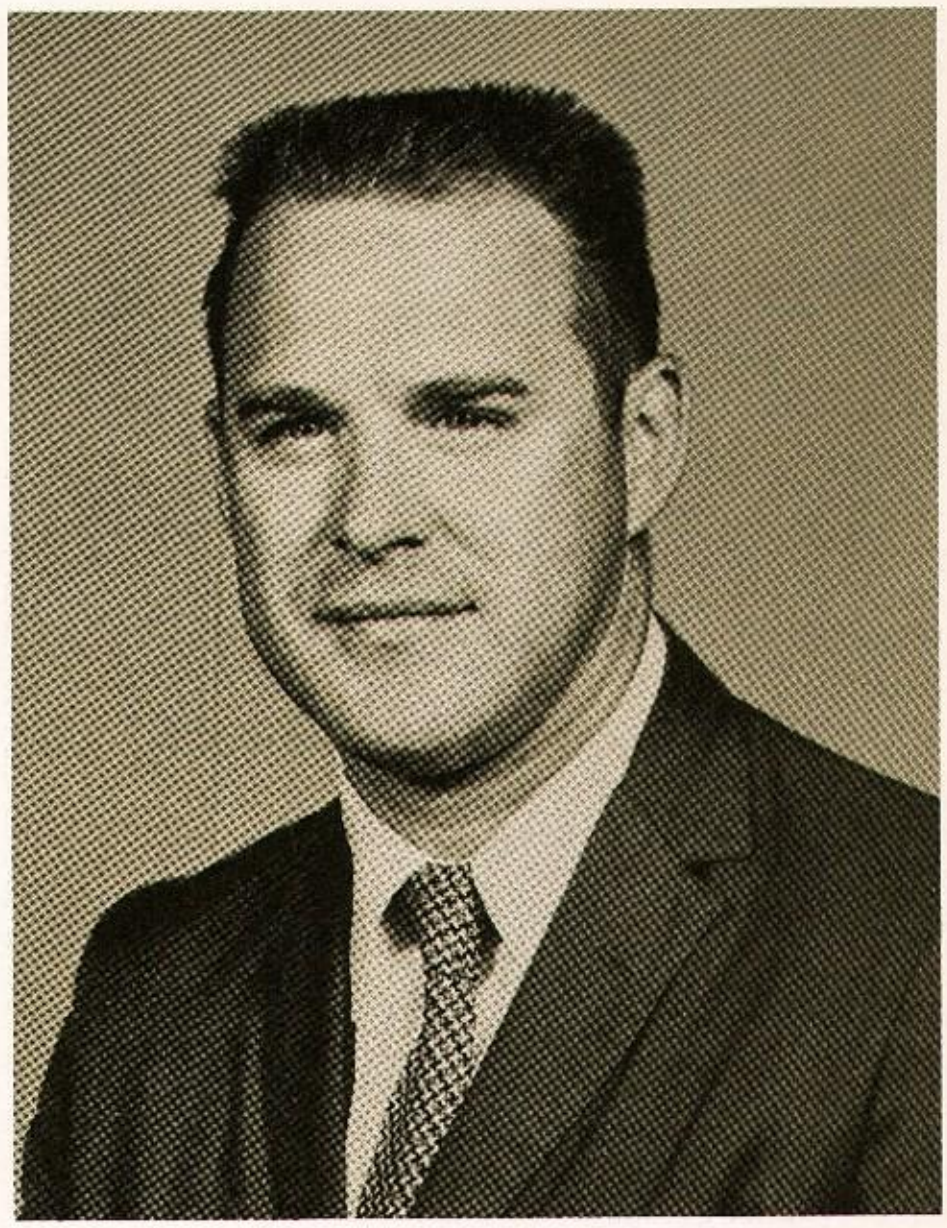
William C. Parrish
Principal, Lee High School

Lee High School is not just a building and grounds but rather it is a laboratory where we develop our minds, express ideas, and equip ourselves for a full life in a highly competitive world. If you leave Lee High School and think in the same terms you were thinking upon entering, then you have not accomplished that which you should have gained. Each day you should be a little different from the previous day — reach a little higher; think a little deeper. You are then a real student!

This spring marks an historic occasion for Lee High School — we will be graduating our first Senior Class. The first class is enjoying a unique distinction — the distinction of setting precedencies for future classes. It is my hope that these two short years at Lee have provided experiences which will prepare you, the seniors, to meet the demands with which you will be faced.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPALS

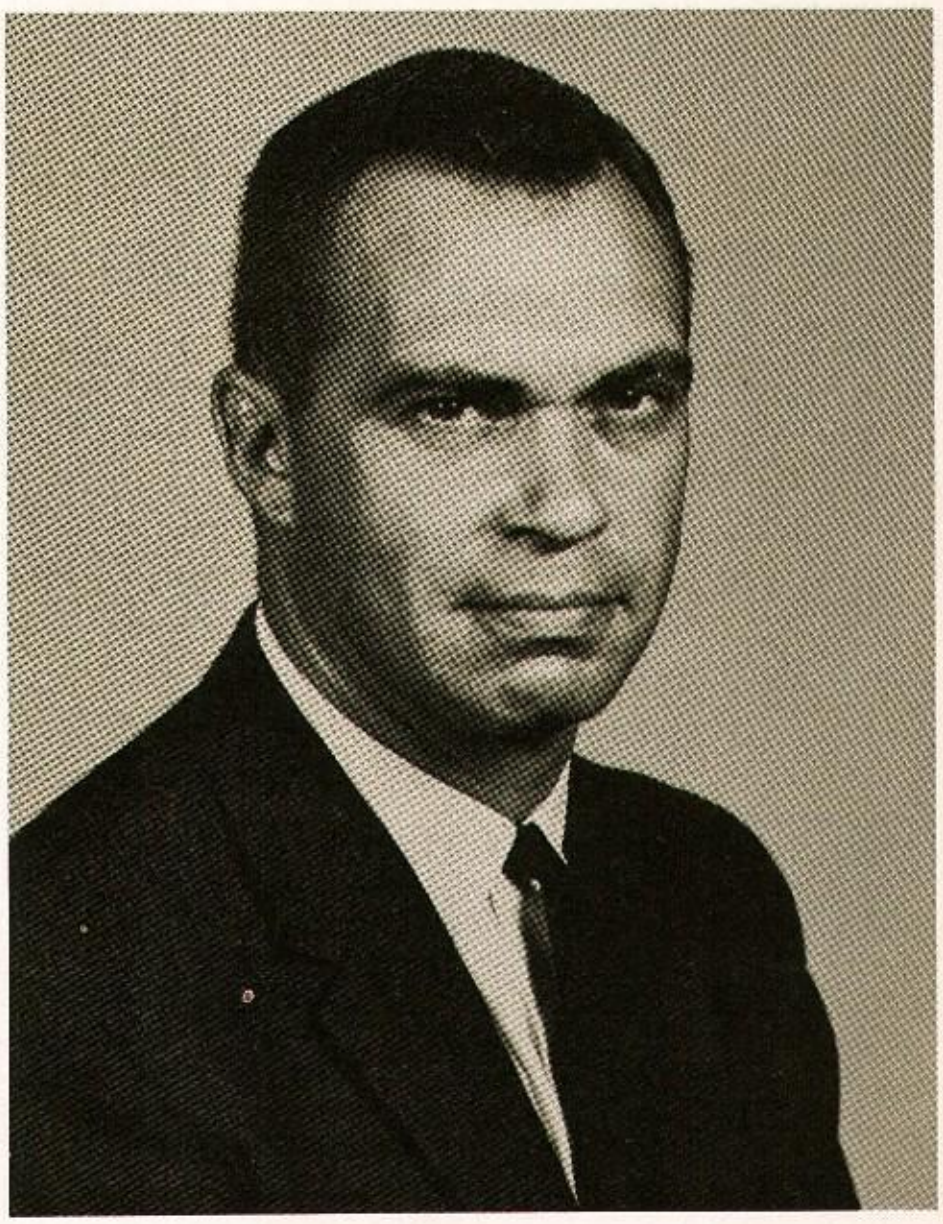
Mr. Piper, Assistant Principal for Instruction, has been both friend and counselor to the students and faculty. He started his job during the second semester when Mr. Parrish became our new principal. The staff compliments him on a job well done and hopes that in the field of education he will be beneficial to the growth of our school.



Mr. Glenn Piper

The job of Assistant Principal for Administration was a new experience for Mr. Kley this year. He had previously held the position of Athletic Director. He started his job during the summer months and has been working hard ever since, helping students and faculty with administrative problems.

Best Wishes
Frank Kley



Mr. Frank Kley

GUIDANCE SERVICES

Mrs. Lutz

One of the main objectives of our Guidance Department is to encourage the individual pupil to make the most of his abilities so that he might develop into a happy contributing member of society.

To accomplish this objective we provide various services. Some of these are:

1. Counseling
2. Initiate and continue the cumulative record
3. Adjust pupils in their classes here at school or in areas of special training
4. Provide college catalogs for student use
5. Collect and distribute scholarship information
6. Supply information concerning finances for college or special education
7. Self-aids for college or special education
8. Provide beneficial group experiences
9. Administer and interpret an adequate testing program
10. Schedule pupils in classes
11. Arrange and conduct conferences with parents and teachers
12. Solicit the aid and recommendations of teachers

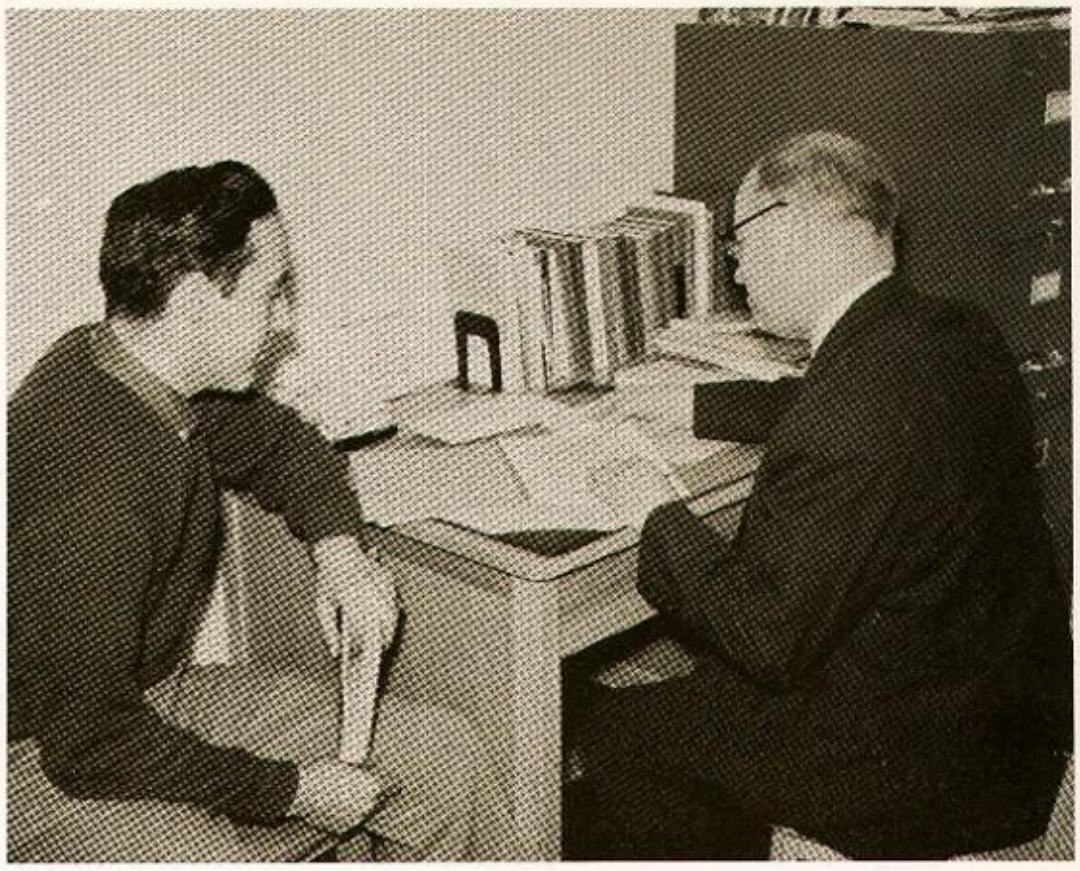
Guidance services support and coordinate the other services of the school. We try to meet the needs of boys and girls which cannot be met through the instructional and administrative procedures. You might refer to these services as the hub of a wheel of interpersonal relationships among teachers, administrators, specialists, parents and other adults, and students. All of these relationships affect the life of the student. Some are good; others are harmful. Frequently the person becomes frustrated and needs the sympathetic but guiding help of a counselor.

One of the busiest members of the Guidance Department is the secretary. She is responsible for scheduling parent-teacher conferences, requesting information, on transfer students sending out transcripts, mailing application to colleges for our Seniors and many other duties.

She has proven to be a most efficient secretary and an asset to the department. Her willingness to please and pleasant ways have gained her the respect of both faculty and students.

Mrs. Lankford

Dr. Keesee assists seniors planning to attend college with filling out applications and completes transcripts to be mailed to the colleges. Most of our seniors that are college bound have applied to an average of three schools. He is doing a great job in this department.

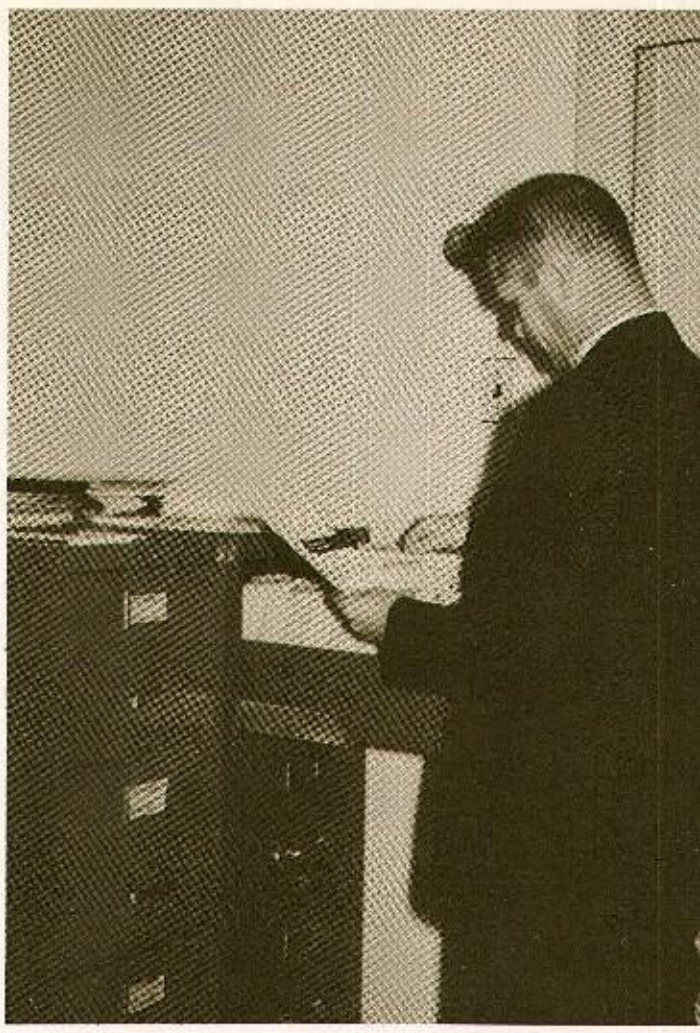


GUIDANCE

One of the busiest persons around the department is Mrs. McAteer with all of the Junior Class as her charge.

Mr. Will offers his services to the 9th grade. He is seen here assisting a ninth grader with his schedule for the 1960-61 school year.

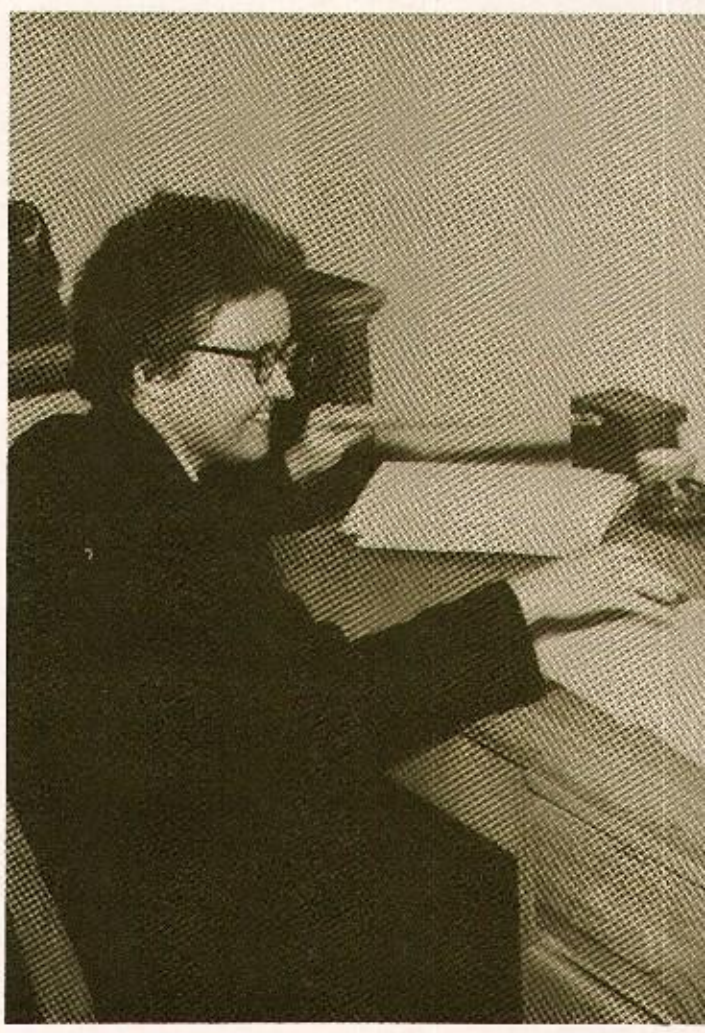
Mrs. Jones works on the 9th grade level counseling boys and girls. She is recording test information of a student's cumulative folder.



Mr. Kincaid has started a vocational fi for the benefit of all students. Along wi this service he has helped seniors file scho arship applications and locate career info mation.

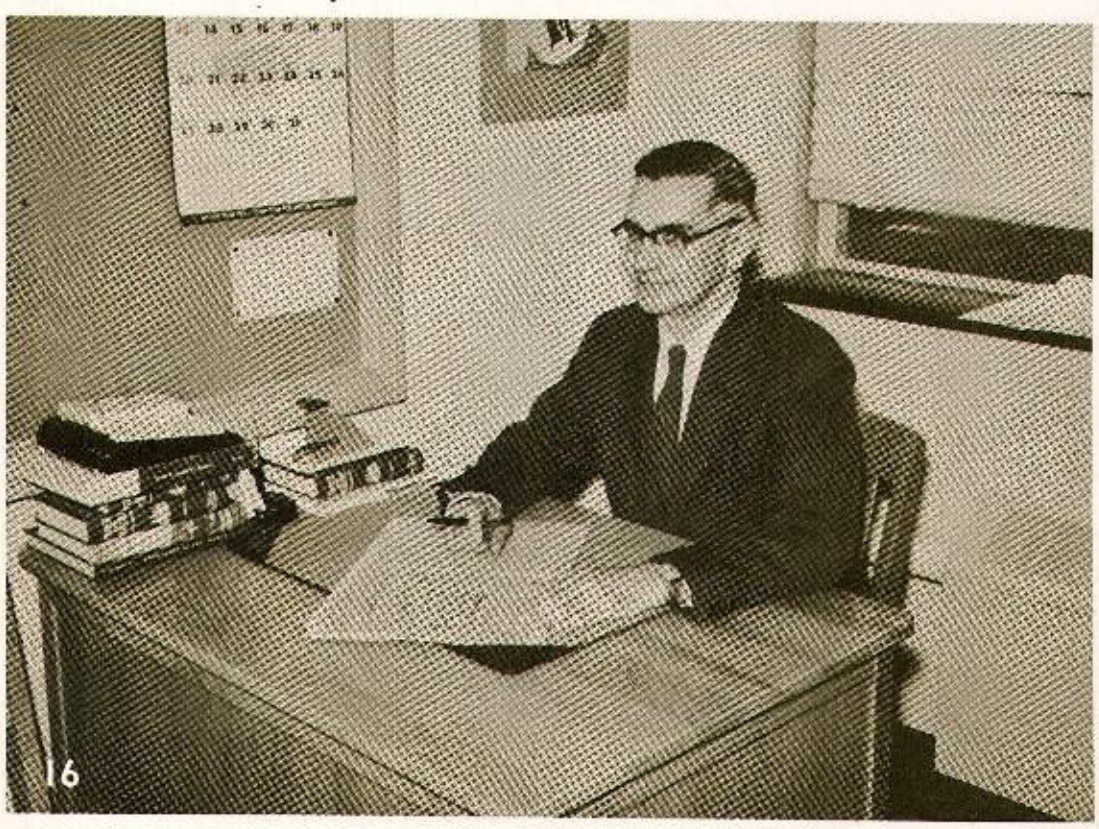
Mrs. Keifer explains the test results to one of the Sophomores.

SERVICES



Miss Trimble also is an eighth grad counselor.

Mr. Patterson completes the cumulative record of an eighth grader who recently transferred to Lee.



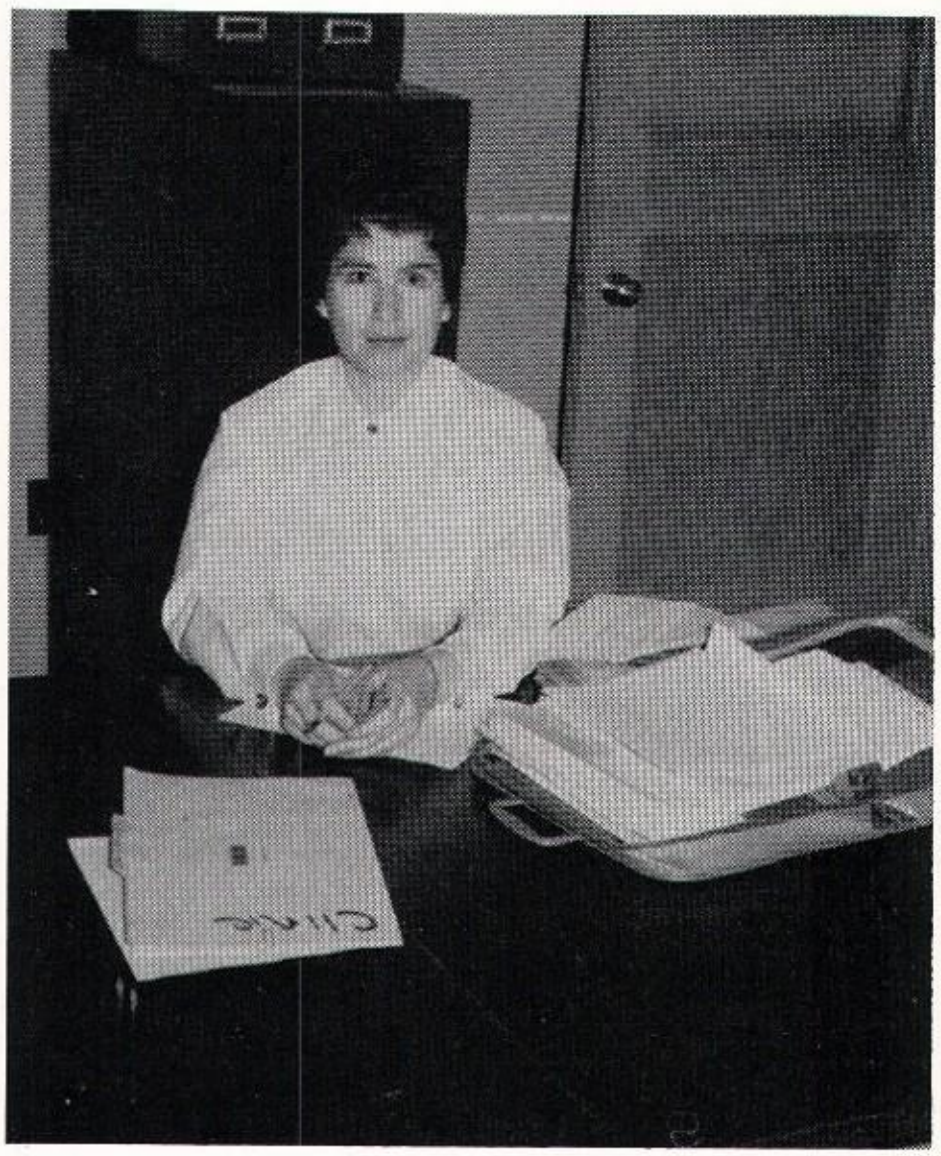
READING

The Reading teacher surveys records of students, finding out if they can be helped. She further surveys their problems with standard and informal tests. She then places them in groups where they can work with people who have similar problems.

In the reading program you work with many college material students who need help in mastering their skills. They may have lost out on these skills because of frequent moves, or for other reasons.

Reading is a program that can help everyone, because everyone can improve his reading skills.

Mrs. Redding



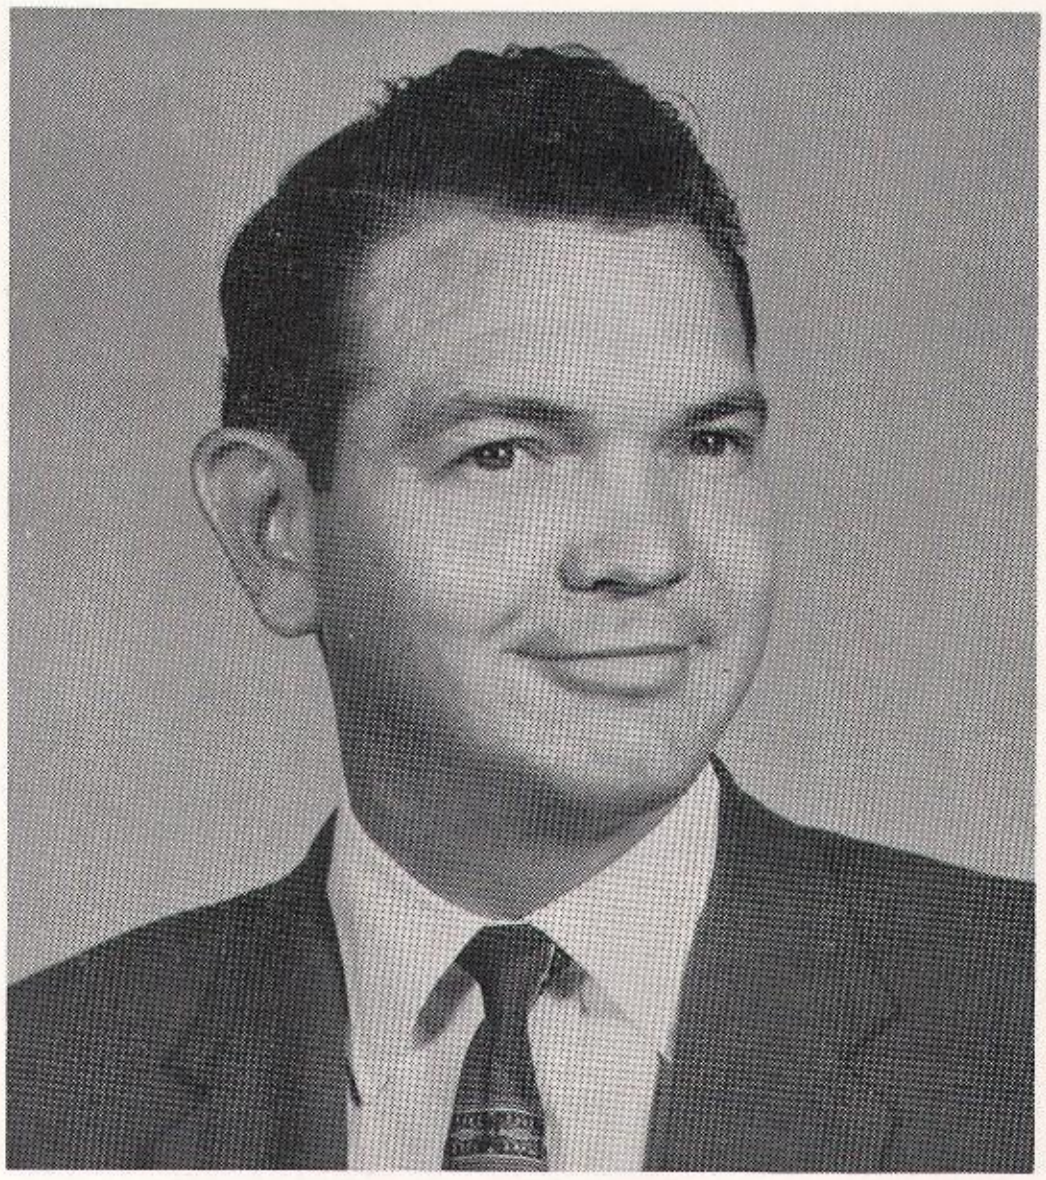
Miss Hodges

The public health nurse, employed by the Fairfax County Health Department, is assigned to the school full time.

She will function beginning 8:00 A.M. to 2:40 P.M. Monday through Friday (with the exception of Nurses' staff conferences, scheduled throughout the year). From 2:40 to 4:30 P.M. other duties will be resumed in her tract area of the county and in the Springfield Branch office of the Fairfax Health Department.

In the school, she functions under the directions of Mr. William Parrish, Principal of Lee High School; Mr. Frank C. Kley; Mr. Glenn Piper; Assistant Principals; and Mr. Mike Millan, Director of Health and Physical Education.

VISITING TEACHER



Mr. Carpenter, the Visiting Teacher, is a Liaison officer between the home and school. He helps to discover the causes that contribute to difficulties which may prevent a child from making satisfactory school adjustment. Through the Guidance Department he assists in remedying the situations.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Our lives are built around certain periods which will remain always in our memory. One of those will be that first harrowing day when Mama grasped our reluctant hand firmly in hers and headed for the nearest grammar school for enrollment purposes. The times we have been told with sometimes irritating regularity that our Senior Year would be the best one of all, and miracle of miracles—it is.

It is good to know that this, our Senior Year, has been an unforgettable one, at least we believe now that we will never forget the first assembly, the senior privilege, football season, the Christmas Ball, the class party, class play, the class dance, the reception, the all-night party, and the Prom. We will of course forget, but it's part of the wonder world of being a Senior to think we won't.

Some of us dream of great projects, new and unreached horizons. Some are builders who will carry out the dreamer's plans. Others are leaders who will bring the dreamers and builders together, fitting them into a working scheme. All of us love Lee, each of us serves according to his talent, and none of us need yield place to another in loyalty and accomplishment.

As we approach commencement, and graduation, we approach a bitter-sweet moment, a moment in which a significant and memorable and happy chapter of our lives comes to a close. Perhaps many of us feel a tinge of regret, but there is no time for tears—on to bigger and better things. Let us face the future boldly, courageously, joyously, and carry with us the ideals for which Lee stands and leave us our contribution to her the highest and best impression of ourselves.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

The Junior class, headed by four outstanding officers, leads the Juniors through a year that can be looked upon as being very successful. The job could not have been done without the cooperation of the sponsors, Mr. Connolly and Miss Khrebiel.

A fine contribution of the Junior class was a monthly publication called Junior Jargon. This was a newspaper for Juniors only and it kept Juniors informed of the many activities of their class.

Of course the big responsibility of the Junior class is giving the prom. Juniors actively participated in the activities carried on in order to raise money for the big event. They held a Junior play, sponsored a decorated sock hop after a basketball game, sold Lee High School bookcovers, managed the concession stand once during a football game, and held a bake sale. As a result of arduous effort, the prom given by the Juniors was a big success and it will be long remembered by all who attended.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

An auspicious year of lively activity was the trademark of the Sophomore class. The officers, with the help of the sponsors, Mrs. Baughan and Mr. Baumgartner, carefully outlined many events to be performed during the year. All projects were held with the idea in mind of making money for the prom which the rising Juniors will sponsor next year.

At the beginning of the year, the group held a car wash which turned out to be a huge success.

Next on the agenda was a record hop held in January. The hop took place after the Fairfax—Lee basketball game. To add to the complacency of the class, a large crowd attended and fun was had by all.

Lee High's first talent show was held in the month of April under the sponsorship of the Sophomore class. Talent participation was open to both students and faculty. An evening performance was held which was open to the community. This turned out to be one of the liveliest events of the year.

To conclude their outstanding year with a convivial note, the Sophomores had their annual outing for members of their class only.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

The Freshman class was the only one which was led by a group of four girls. The class chose as their sponsors, Mrs. Wade, the music director, and Mr. Shupe, a math teacher.

A new feature of the class was the Freshman Council, and its is hoped that the idea will be carried on in future Freshman classes. This was a group made up of representatives from their English classes. The Council assisted the officers with helpful suggestions proposed by their classmates. The Council also collected dues twice a year.

The Freshman class will be the first graduating class of Lee High to have completed all five years of their high school education here. Because of this fact, they presented a plaque to the school in the Awards Assembly containing the names of the officers this year. Names of the officers for this class of '63 will be added to the plaque each year until their graduation.

The Freshman class ended the year in a jovial manner by holding their annual picnic which was a gala event.

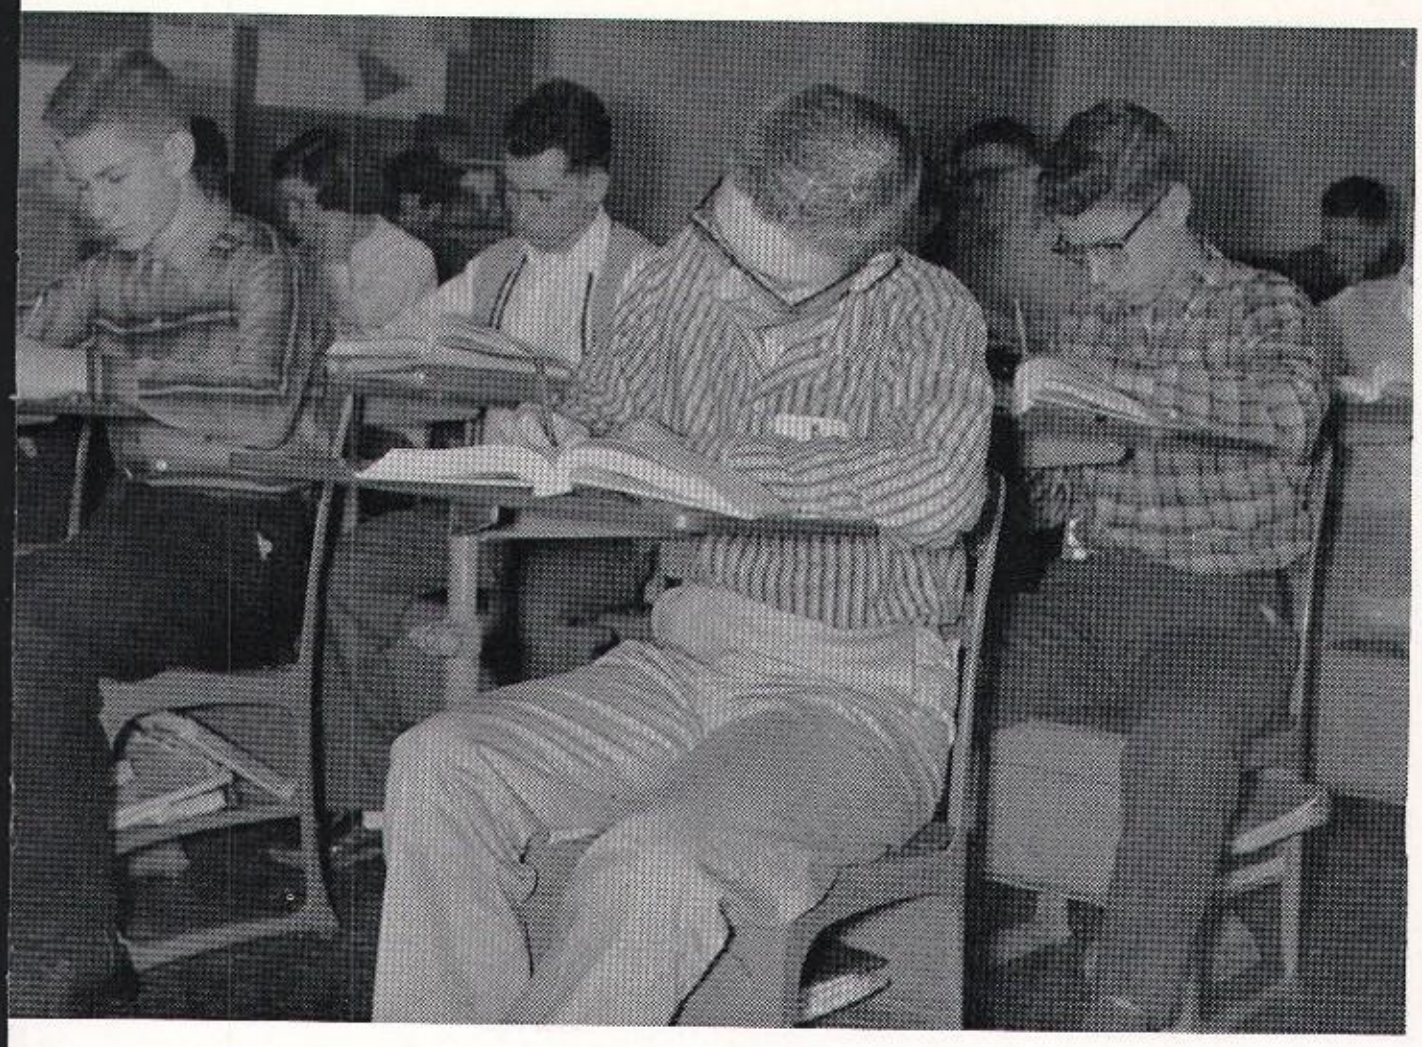
CURRICULUM

Languages, both English and foreign are important, in preparing youth t take their place in the ranks of a cos mopolitan world.

LANGUAGE

At Lee we offer English, French, German and Spanish. Students are required to take English and are encouraged to take a foreign language. The courses are designed to give them training in reading, writing, and speaking the language.

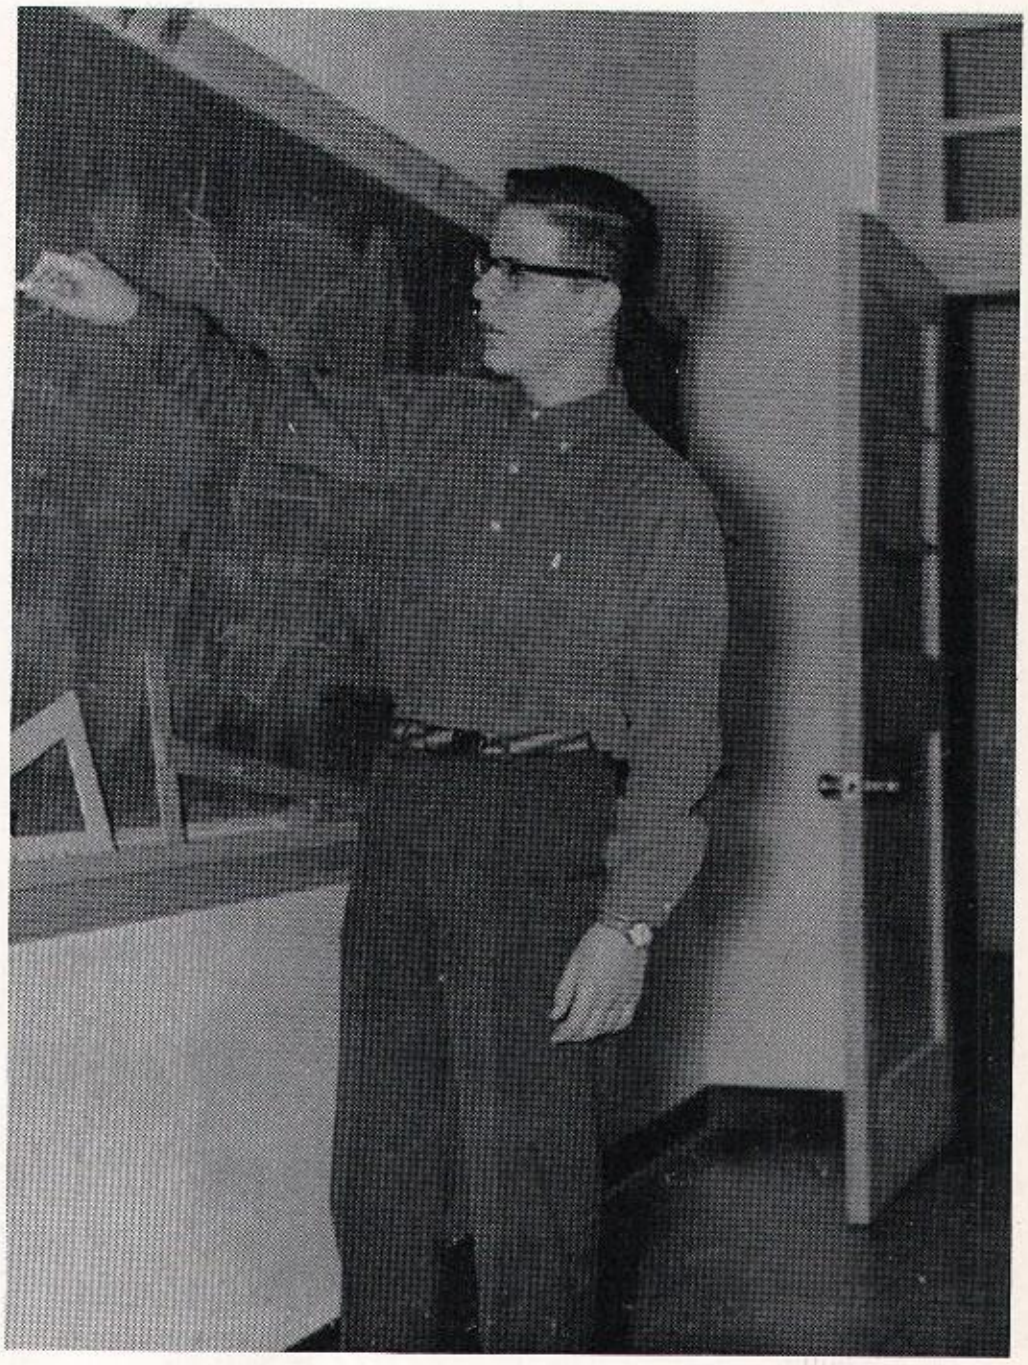
With the aid of the federal goverr ment "listening labs" have been pr vided for all students studying a foreig language.



MATHEMATICS

One of the most practiced areas of our curriculum at Lee is the study of mathematics. The courses available for study are geared to meet the needs of each individual student, for mathematics in later life.

There are many steps to success, one of these is definitely mathematics. In a tension-ladened world such as ours, perhaps even more so in this critical period of cold war, there is no greater need than that of mathematics and science.



Another step along the road to success, for those of us with the ability to comprehend and apply, is the field of science.

The science courses at Lee are designed to activate interest, and further challenge those already interested.

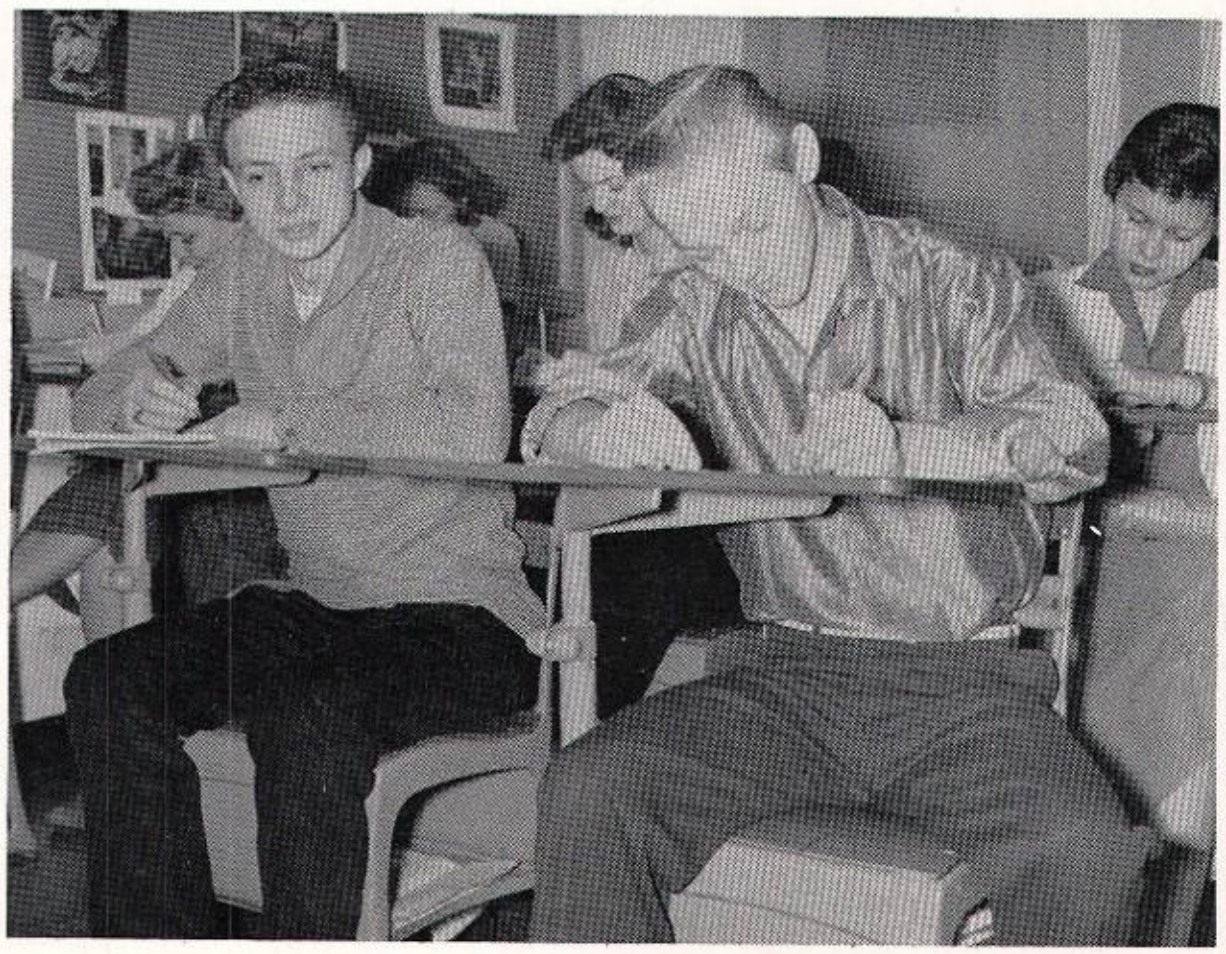
Our national government is aiding in the education of, and searching for top-notch scientists. In an effort to keep abreast with aggressive forces in our world, Uncle Sam is encouraging scientific interest of youth.

SCIENCE

History from the beginning of the ages, has influenced the field of art. Art, is in reality sometimes nothing more than the artist's personal opinions of political, economic or social problems. Granted, the art courses offered here at Lee are not the political opinions, however, they do offer a student of art a chance to express himself.

The courses offered here are basically to instruct students in the use of colors, styles of painting, and to cultivate interest in good art work, and provide a medium of self-expression.

HISTORY and ART

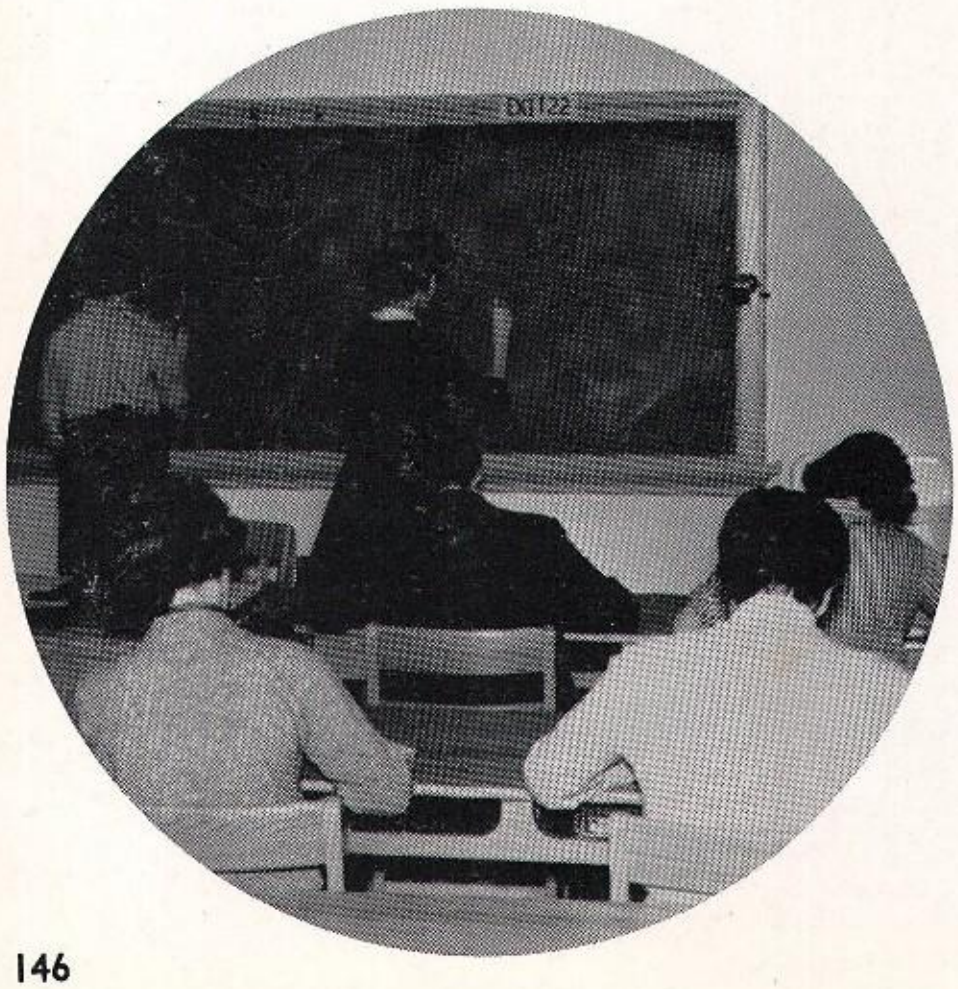


History itself is a required course here at Lee. It is required so that students will know enough about their country to take pride in what our forefathers fought so hard for in the American Revolution, and what our country and the word "American" means.

Heretofore, we have mentioned several of the steps to success. Therefore, we must not overlook the field of business.

Courses offered here at Lee are those which would prepare one for a secretarial position, or that, with additional education, of a business executive.

For those students who plan to terminate their formal education upon graduation from high school, commercial training enables them to find gainful employment in our community, state, and nation.



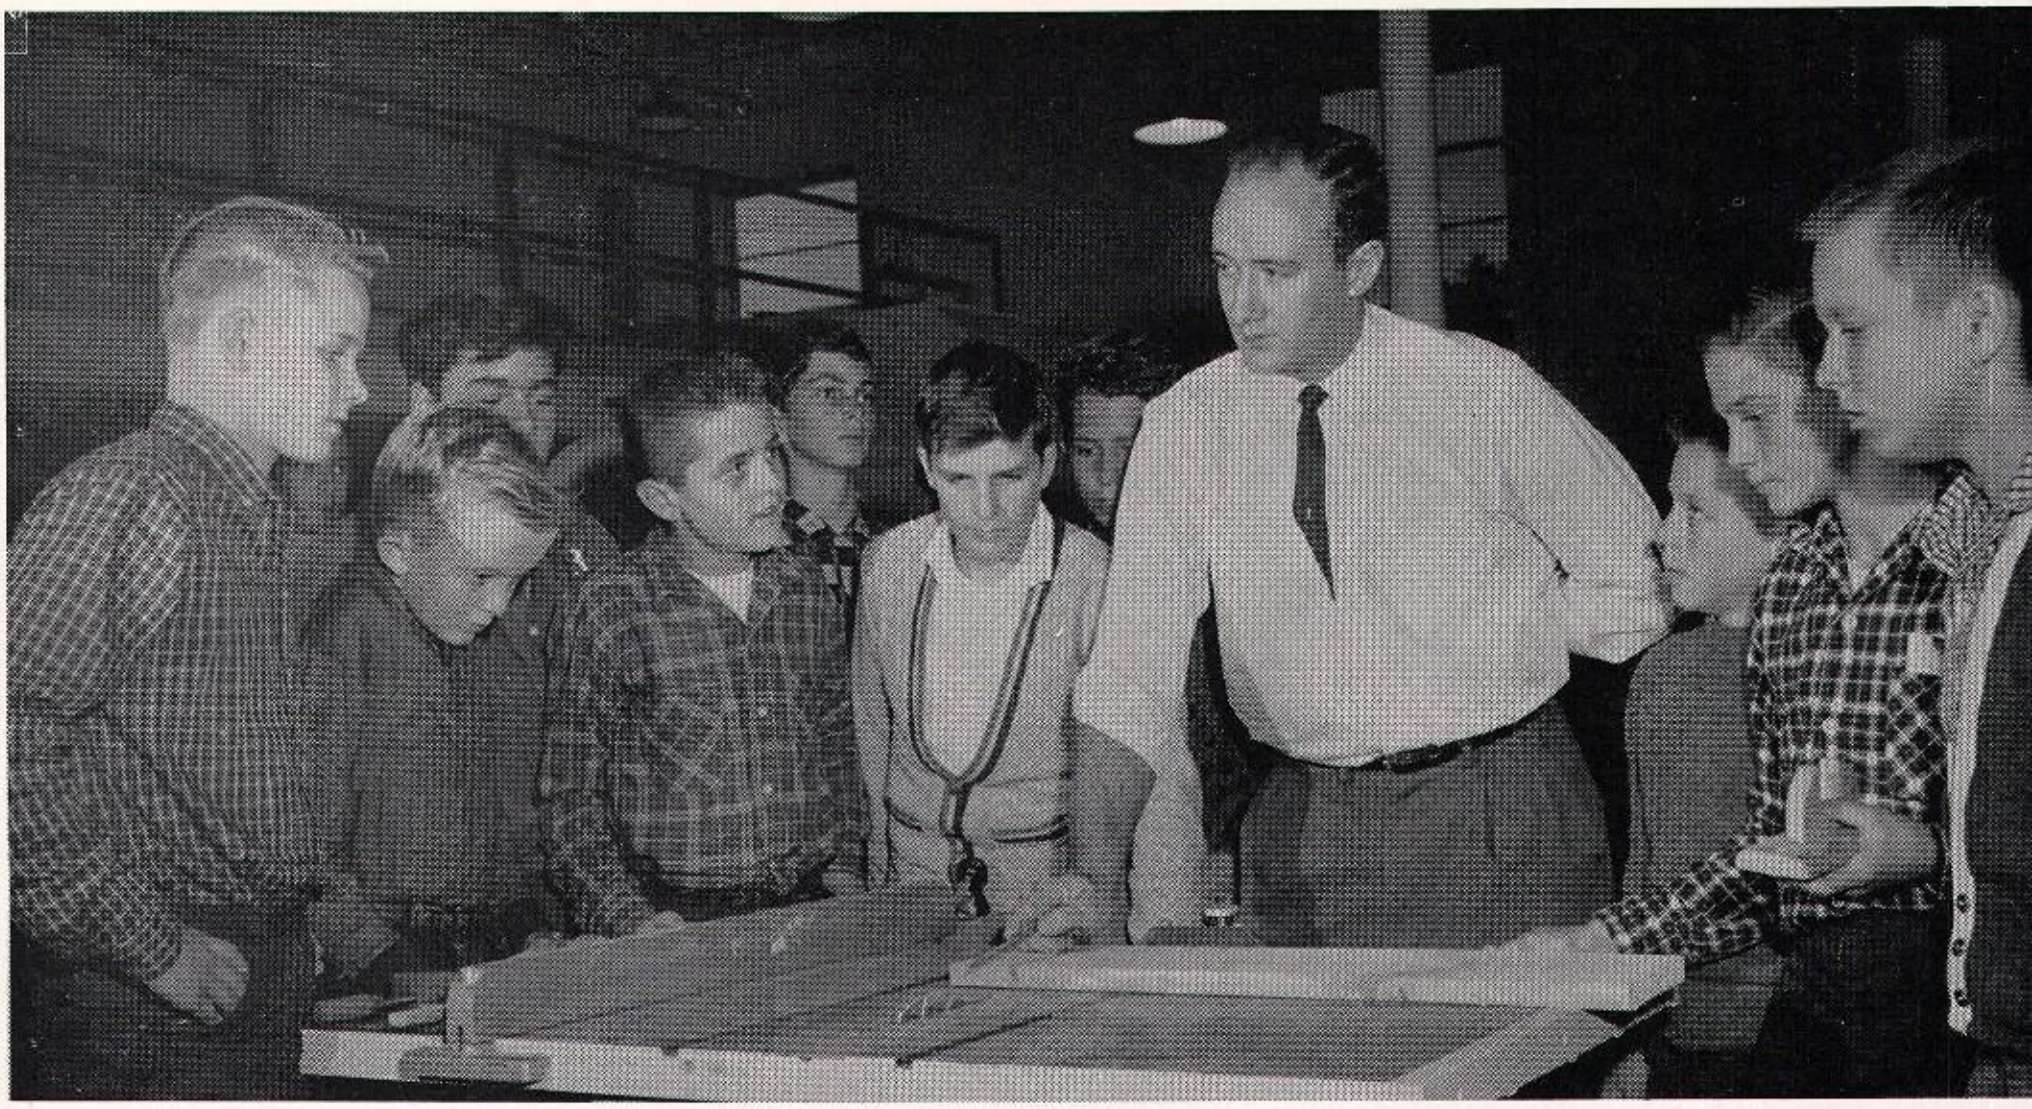
COMMERCIAL

A valuable asset to any commercial department is a good work experience program. Today, as never before, the businessman wants trained people and he wants people with experience. To meet this demand of business, the schools are now turning to a supervised training program, whereby, students not only get theory and class instruction, but also actual work experience by being placed on a job.

VOCATIONAL OFFICE TRAINING

The boys and girls gain a level of occupational competence from their participation in this program.

The close co-operation of business and school is exemplified by the plan wherein each participates in training the student.



The area of industrial arts in our school is designed to give both boys and girls training in the various facets of industrial arts.

Much of the study is a temporary and exploratory basis. While enrolled in one of the industrial arts courses the student builds projects of his own choice, commensurate with his ability to use a variety of tools and construction materials in a workman-like manner.

This is also helpful in teaching a student the proper respect and safety habits to be used while working with power tools.

The training helps them to retain pertinent facts related to industrial occupations so that he will be guided intelligently in making a choice to suit his interests and abilities.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Diversified Occupations, better known as D.O., is a program designed to provide occupational training for Juniors and Seniors. It is a regular part of our school offerings and is available to all who meet the required qualifications. It is part-time training that involves a cooperative set-up between industrial and business enterprises of the community and our high school. These industrial and business firms furnish part-time employment and training to our students during the regular school hours.

The student usually takes three classes here at school, and then the other half of the day is spent working at a training station. This way the pupils learn the actual D.O. part of their job under true working conditions. At the same time the school furnishes the WHY subject material related to the actual jobs. For this on-the-job training, the student receives two full credits.

D.O. gives you the opportunity to learn technical information of this occupation as well as manipulative skills. It also provides the opportunity for you to establish a reputation on the job through the help of school and co-ordinator.

There are two parallel parts to the training program, one is formal classroom study on generally related materials. The other is a systematic training on the job, in this case an office.

The training station or office, cooperates with the school co-ordinator in establishing and conducting training situations. When a trainee has completed a year's study he has studied about and actually performed all of the duties required on the job.

When this student graduates, he has several choices available to him. One, he can seek a job in his trained specialty. Two, he can go to college either-as pay or working/pay student. Although most of the students do not go to college, you can see the opportunity open to them by having a vocation upon graduation.

Since last year the Concert Band has come a long way. By selling Christmas cards, last year and this year, the band made enough money to order its uniforms. The uniforms started arriving late in January.

Last year the band received a rating of two on grade three music at the Music Festival. This year the band received a grade five rating at the Festival.

In return to the concert played at Lee last year, by the Greatbridge High School Band, the Lee High School Band traveled to Norfolk and played for the Greatbridge students.

"The meeting of the Student Council will now come to order." Those familiar words of President, Bob D'Ambrosio, opened many productive meetings of Lee High School's Student Council.

The Student Council sponsored various fund-raising activities during the year, including the Magazine Drive and a student dance. They also have given generously of their time to aid the March of Dimes program.

The activities have convinced the student body that their Student Council possesses good ideas, determination, and a will to work while serving their school. The representatives learned the finest of the principles of a representative government.

SHIELD STAFF

The members of the Shield Staff have put in many long long hours of work in putting out the second copy of the book. These hours were filled with writing write-ups and taking random shots and laying out the whole book.

Special recognition goes to the following members of the staff. They are Helen Vernon, Janet Hess, Paula Frazier, Luray Trout, Amelia Cole, and Coralinn Tuttle, who have been most valuable in seeing that the book was gotten out and completed. Also special recognition goes to our sponsor, Mr. Kincaid, who also put many hours of work in it too, working late in the evening and after school.

STUDENT SERVICE CLUB

In its second year, the Student Service Club took many new jobs upon itself, and performed and completed them all in a very able manner. The people who wished to join the club were given applications, thus screening the ones who were only superficially interested. Officers were elected and the members were given duties. Congestion in the halls and cafeteria were almost obliviated under the capable hands of the members. Stairways were marked so there was only one-way traffic in certain areas. Signs for the clinic, office, etc. were printed. The seats in the auditorium were numbered and a bulletin for all to see. After one of the games a sock-hop was sponsored by the Student Service. The most obvious of all services to the school is the school sign which was designed and paid for by the Club.

There are still problems to be ironed out, but slowly the Student Service is rising to be the most appreciated of all the school organizations.

One of the main sources of communication among the students this year has been "The Lance," our school newspaper. Reporting dances, sports events, club news, and features are usual points of notice. Feature columns on Teachers and Seniors have added to the readers' interest this year.

However, the most important purpose of the newspaper is the organization of current news so that each student may have a better understanding of his school, and may refer later to this written record.
